

Graduate Program in Global Governance and Sustainable Development (G2SD),
The Graduate School of International Cultural Studies (GSICS)

Application for Doctoral Program (3-year course)
For April 2022 Admission

I. Aim

The aim of this graduate program is to enhance one's ability to advance global governance and sustainable development. Since the challenges associated with these tasks are complex and inter-linked, what is needed to deal with them are the abilities to question conventional wisdom and to design innovative analytical frameworks on the basis of inter-disciplinary knowledge. This program intends to develop such abilities through a combination of critical reviews of theories, on the one hand, and problem-oriented empirical studies, on the other.

II. Admission Policy

The Tohoku University Graduate School of International Cultural Studies provides students with the ability to think and analyze in an international and interdisciplinary manner, advanced foreign language skills, and a high level of specialized knowledge and clear awareness of issues in the following three areas: (1) diverse regional cultures of Japan and other areas seen from an international perspective, (2) global issues concerning the environment, resources, and sustainable society in which all humankind can coexist, and (3) language underlying international society. Our educational goal is to train professionals, teachers, and researchers who can play an active role on a global scale with their rich education, international perspective, and high ideal of contributing to the stewardship and development of human civilization and culture. To achieve this goal, we seek students who have clear aspirations of becoming creative researchers or professionals and are active in the international community, equipped with flexible thinking skills, broad academic knowledge, and advanced language skills.

In admitting students, we have entrance examinations in the following categories: general selection, special selection for international applicants applying from overseas, selection for those advancing to the doctoral program from our MA program (only for the three-year doctoral program), entrance examination for the Global Governance and Sustainable Development Program, and entrance examination for the International Graduate Program in Language Sciences. These are used to select applicants who have the advanced abilities and qualities needed to conduct research in line with the educational ideals/goals mentioned above.

In the entrance examination for the Global Governance and Sustainable Development Program, applicants are evaluated based on a review of their application materials and an interview. We examine whether they have the high-level English proficiency needed to study in the program (as English is the medium of instruction), the ability to think critically about today's social issues, and the ability to solve practical problems. These are given roughly equal weight.

We expect students to acquire broad knowledge in their areas of expertise, advanced foreign language skills, and ability to conduct creative research, before their enrollment.

III. Curriculum and Degree

All courses in the Doctoral program are conducted in English. A minimum of 12 units of course work and completion of a Doctoral thesis are required for the Doctoral degree. The degree offered is “Doctor of Philosophy (International Cultural Studies)” or “Doctor of Philosophy.” Students will also be offered a certificate recognizing completion of the program.

IV. Application

1. Positions Available: Around 2 for the academic year 2022

2. Application Period and Admission

All application documents stated in subsection 4 below must be received between December 1, 2021 and December 23, 2021. A screening process including an interview will be conducted in February 2022. In the case that an applicant makes a false statement in the application documents, the applicant may have his or her admission revoked even after admission.

Note 1: Admissions to the program take place every April and October. The descriptions in this document are applicable only to April 2022 admissions. For October 2022 admissions, please refer to documents published in the future.

Note 2: It is strongly recommended that applicants, prior to application, contact and consult their prospective supervisors on their post-admission research plans.

Note 3: After admission, students will belong to the GSICS department that is overseen by their main supervisor and will be granted use of that department's facilities.

3. Application Requirements

Applicants for the 3-year Doctoral program should meet one of the following criteria:

- (1) Those who have received, or will receive a Master's degree or professional degree by March 2022.

5. Screening Method

Applicants are screened on the basis of a comprehensive evaluation of the application documents (including academic transcript and statement of research plan), English proficiency, and an interview conducted through an online video conference system. The interview will be conducted in English or Japanese depending on the applicant's preference, although some or all questions may be asked in English. Applicants are required to make an oral presentation on their previous research achievements, such as their Master's thesis, and their future research plan, and may also be asked some questions regarding basic knowledge on their research topics in the interview. Applicants will be notified of the details of the interview such as time and date after the initial screening.

6. Announcement of Acceptance and Enrollment

(a) The results of screening will be posted on the GSICS website at 5pm JST on February 16, 2022.

GSICS website: http://www.intcul.tohoku.ac.jp/english/admission/successful_applicants.html

(b) Documents needed for enrollment will be sent to successful applicants. The enrollment procedures should be completed by early March 2022.

(c) Successful applicants are requested to pay the following fees at the time of registration:

① Admission Fee: ¥282,000

Note : Successful applicants who are currently enrolled in GSICS are not required to pay the admission fee.

② Tuition Fee: ¥ 267,900 (half of the annual tuition fee of ¥535,800)

Note 1: In the case that tuition fees are revised during your period of study, you will be charged the revised tuition fee from the date of revision.

Note 2: Information on exemption of admission or tuition fees is included in documents (b).

③ Insurance and other expenses: There is a ¥3,620 fee for Gakkensai and Gakkenbai insurances and a ¥33,370 fee for Foreign Student Insurance (each insurance policy covers a three-year period). In addition, there is a ¥8,000 fee for joining the Tohoku University Alumni Association (¥6,000 for those who completed their undergraduate at Tohoku University). Further details will be provided in the admission documents. All fees are current as of April 1, 2021.

7. Long-Term Course Program

We have adopted a Long-Term Course Program for students who have difficulty completing the course in the normal 3 years due to concurrent employment, housework, caregiving and so on. Though the Doctoral Program normally lasts 3 years, it can be extended to 6 years. Those who wish to acquire a Doctoral degree by extending the normal 3-year completion limit can be admitted as Long-Term Course Students. Note that the maximum period of residency for the Doctoral Program is 6 years. Those who wish to do so must follow the instructions in the notification of acceptance, which will be delivered by mail after the announcement of acceptance, and submit the prescribed documents when conducting the other entrance procedures.

Coursework for students who are deemed eligible for the Long-Term Course Program is provided in accordance with the curricula and time schedule for regular students.

The annual tuition fee for long-term course students is calculated as follows: the total amount of tuition fees for the standard term (3-years) of study is divided over the extended term (6-years) of study. For details, please contact the GSICS Office of Academic Affairs.

8. Handling of Personal Information

- (1) All personal information submitted by applicants for the admission procedures will be used solely for educational purposes, such as the selecting applicants, enrollment procedures, post-enrollment student support and academic advising.
- (2) Personal information used to screen applicants will be handled with care as per Tohoku University's regulations on personal information protection and it will not be disclosed to any third party without the applicant's consent.
- (3) Please note that all applicants are assumed to agree with the terms above.

9. Others

- (1) Please note that incomplete applications will not be accepted. After receipt of the application items, no correction is permitted, and application fees are not refundable. Application items will not be returned in principle.
- (2) Disclosure of examination results is available at the request of applicants during the fiscal year of the examination.
- (3) Appropriate support shall be provided for physically handicapped applicants. Please contact the GSICS Office of Academic Affairs at your earliest convenience to discuss individual needs.
